MANAGING WORKERS' COMPENSATION INJURIES AND COSTS

11:00 AM – 5:15 PM | November 12, 2018

SEMINAR DESCRIPTION

Indirect expenses such as lost productivity and retraining make up 80% of costs associated with workers' compensation.

Employee injuries and associated workers' compensation costs are a management problem- not an insurance problem, not an employee problem, and not a fraud problem. With proper management, injuries and workers' compensation costs can be controlled.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

This seminar is designed to help trucking companies reduce their injury rate and workers' compensation costs. Experts familiar with workers' compensation and the trucking industry will teach you how to:

- Design an injury prevention program
- Manage internal and external claims processing
- Start benchmarking your company against industry leaders
- Spot fraud before it occurs
- Use our checklists and formats to assess your program

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

Anyone who is responsible for their company's risk management program, safety, injury prevention, workers' compensation costs or fraud.

1. CEOs and Executive Management
2. Risk Managers
3. Safety Directors and Managers
4. Human Resources Personnel
5. General Managers

Held in conjunction with SMC and TSC's 2018 Safety, Security & Human Resources National Conference & Exhibition.

SEMINAR LOCATION

Long Beach Convention & Entertainment Center
Room: Promenade 103A
